phases, allowing you to avail of the aid of trained technical personnel who will help you to make the best possible choice that is most suited to your particular needs. Apart from the constant assistance of its personnel, Components Engine also provides you with various tools with which you can evaluate the potential of this product: Evaluation kit This is a complete kit that will give you the possibility of evaluating all of the functions of Components Engine for three whole months. The evaluation kit in fact consists of the Enterprise version of Components Engine with which you will have the right to publish a project that you have created on the web. Moreover, thanks to the addition of the Print Extension module, you may also obtain professional printouts of all of your projects. But that's not all! You will also be able to take advantage of the "user profile" and "viewer configuration" add-ins. All of this obviously includes the necessary technical assistance to allow you to start working with Components Engine. Demo project Simply send us a couple of exploded drawings and relative specifications and you will be able to see a personalized demo project and thus evaluate how Components Engine can adapt to the requirements of your company. In just a few days our technicians will create a small demo, doing their best to satisfy your requirements as best they can. Pilot project This kit is required in order to simulate the introduction of the product to your company in the fullest manner possible: by means of the definition of an operational project to be indicated as the theme of a pilot project, you can make a sound evaluation of the advantages that you can obtain from using Components Engine and then estimate its impact. In this way you will be able to create a realistic simulation of how you can use it later on, after having purchased it. Online meeting service Both during the development of the pilot project and during the verification of the demo project created specifically for you, why not take advantage of our easy and effective e-learning service: one of our technicians will be at your service to solve any queries you may have or indeed to train you to use Components Engine in the best possible manner. All of this will come about without you having to move from where you are: you will in fact be able to see our technician's operations on the screen of your PC, with the possibility of being able to communicate with him in real time. Guaranteed

Consultazione on line

Consultazione on line Version comparison Products Go ! Language Français English Italiano Português Español Deutsch Search home products support purchase contacts login On-line publication on Components Engine Server The Components Engine Internet solutions have been projected and realized with the aim to reduce both the connection and downloading times of all data stored in the system (parts list, exploded view, technical documents) keeping a good display quality. The Web Extension allows to publish your projects using the CE server paying a yearly fee. So the company is not in charge for all the management and maintenance activities concerning the on-line catalogue. The service includes the basic features of the on-line publication and following services stored on the Components Engine Web Farm: Installation and maintenance of a web server with the related hardware and software configuration and update; Direct link to a fast speed Internet connection; Full support infrastructure (anti-intrusion, anti fire, air conditioning, 7x24 protection, alternative power supplies) Use of (hardware and software) www.componentsengine.com system with its basic features; One domain such as companyname.spareparts.com; Customized user name and password for the users; Direct link to the company web site; Direct management and sending of the orders to the company offices; Even if you choose to publish your projects on the CE web server, you will be free and independent in the management, in the update, and in the projects's changes. You don't need our technical staff to make changes in your catalogues. The only difference between the publication on your company server and ours is that in the first case you purchase the Web Extension, in the second case you rent it. Cos'è la Web Extension

Cos'è la Web Extension Spares on Web Version comparison Products Go ! Language Français English Italiano Português Español Deutsch Search home products support purchase contacts login What is a Web Extension Server? Detail and operation A Web Extension Server can be seen as the space hosted by a spare parts catalog project . In other words, publishing your catalogs on-line requires activating one or more Web Extension Servers. A project may contain several groups of interactive drawings with their subgroups; each group can be managed as a product category, a single plant, a work order or any other type of grouping. Each project is therefore able to manage several catalogs , each able to be associated (hence profiled) to a distinct user. Here is an example: If the company that is creating its spare parts catalog has 4 product lines, each containing 10 machines, it will be sufficient to use one Web Extension Server which will contain all 40 machines subdivided into as many levels as there are production lines. Line A ---- |- Machine A1
|- Machine A2 |- Machine A3 |- Machine A4 |- ... |- Machine A10 Line B ----
|- Machine B1 |- Machine B2 |- Machine B3 |- Machine B4 |- ...
|- Machine B10 ... Consultation may also be authorized only to users of enabled machines, so the customer who purchased the machines A3, A7, C7 and D1 in his/her browser will see the spare parts catalog of those machines only. Line A ---- |- Machine A3
|- Machine A7 Line C ---- |- Machine C7 Line D ---- |- Machine D1 Who needs Web Extension Servers.
All those who want to publish on-line the multimedia catalogs created with Components Engine have to purchase Web Extension Servers. Web Extension Servers can be bought outright , allowing publication in your own server , or rented (Hosting) using the Web space offered by our servers. Hot link Privacy Policy T. & W. credits

Cioè mi trovo per la mani dei dxf di prodotti che non so con che cosa sono stati fatti, me che con i quali devo rearci un catalogo con ce. Devo importarli nel progetto. Devo comprimere delle foto 380x280 pixel circa in modo che pesino non più di una dozzina di K ciascuna. Attualmente sono RGB a 8 bit per canale e anche comprimendo parecchio (liv 4 di Photoshop) il peso non scende sotto i 19 K. Se si sceglie l'indicizzazione a 256 colori non salva più in jpg. COME FARE? salva in .gif Omer salva in .gif Troppi colori KeKeRe e grazie al piffero, il jpeg supporto 16,7 milioni di colori. prova a slavare in png. oppure aumenta la compressione col jpg o salva in gif appunto!! ??? Titti Vuoi che non c'abbia già provato? In gif viene a peperini... Sono convinto che ci sono altre scappatoie. Cambia compressione Omer Altre scappatoie? O abbassi la percentuale di compressione e cala il peso e perdi in qualità, oppure provi in gif (dipende però da che tipo di immagine devi comprimere, molte non vengono bene in gif, solo quelle con poche sfumature e pochi colori) oppure le fai piu piccole..... tutto qui. Colori Titti E' vero che con gli ultimi sviluppi la codifica jpg supporta anche immagini a 256 colori? Privacy Policy T. & W. credits

How many levels can be created into catalogues? : Discussion detail

Discussion detail Technical forum Support Go ! Language Français English Italiano Português Español Deutsch Search home products support purchase contacts login How many levels can be created into catalogues? Bjorn When i look at the test site, i see a few machines (like the dishwasher, motorcycle, etc..) and when i click on a 'machine' i get the detail drawing where i can order the spareparts. Can i have a level in between? What i mean is that my customers machines are rather complex, so they split one machine up to 10 or 20 sub-drawings. So basically it means one (or more) subfolder. RE : How many levels can be created into catalogues? Charlie Components Engine is a very flexible platform, you can manage how many levels you want. E.g. you can create a main root containing a plant layout, then 4 subfolders containing the 4 parts of the whole plant, then each of them may contains another various folders and subfolders (infinite levels) where drawings and other attachments are stored. Is actually a tree like system. Privacy Policy T. & W. credits

RE : May an hotspot links directly to a drawing? Bad Dear Bjorn, Yes, you can directly link a number in order to jump to an another drawing. Components Engine manages pieces and number in the same mode (exception for automatic text recognition & association), so you can link a pieces, a spare, a picture, a text or a number presents in the drawing directly to another drawing (parents drawing, children drawings, and so on). Have a look in this small demo: http://web.ricambio.net/site/pagece5.wplus?ID_COUNT=ce_5_home&LN=2&CEPV=234hg54gdd&CELN=2&CEME=2&NDS=CE_1&PRF=1&PRNDS=R&PRC=|R|&MP1=CE_1&MP=CE_1.asp Here you can find various kind of associations: on the main drawing you will jump directly to child node, here if you click on hotspot 2 system will ask you if you want to see part info or jump to part detailed drawing (for singular pieces ordering). You can manage this kind of connection by editor of Components Engine. Privacy Policy T. & W. credits
